Let's dive in!

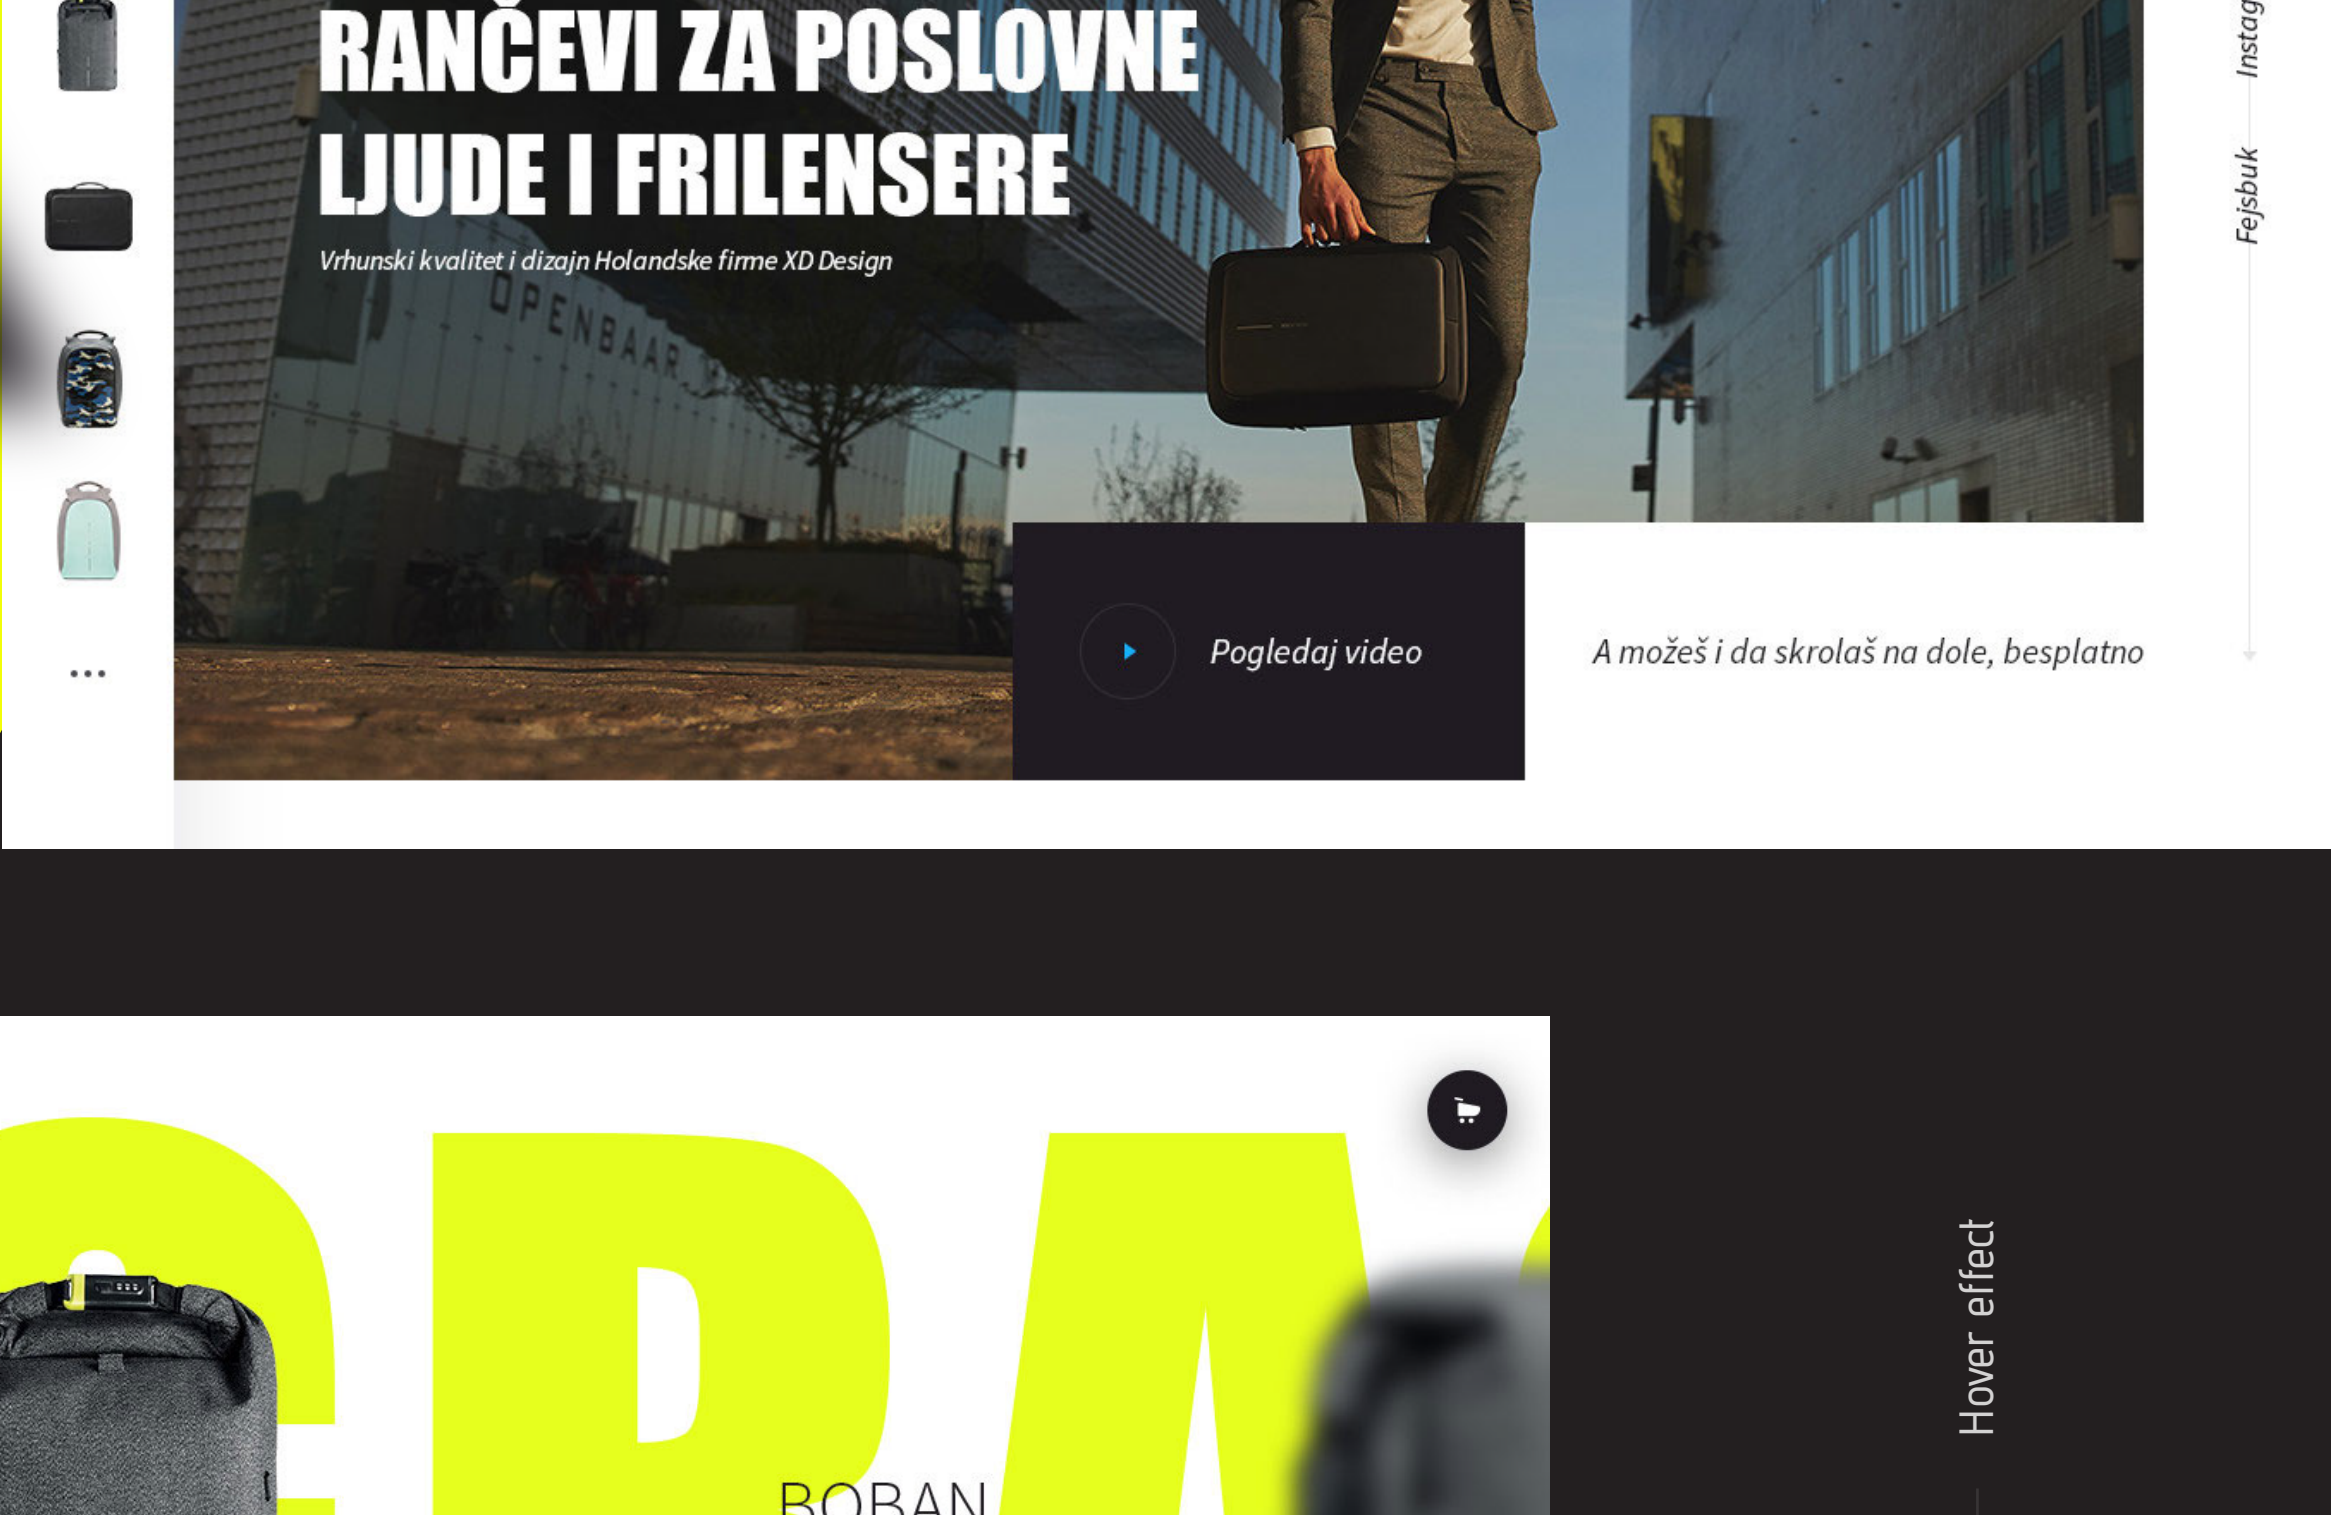

UI/UX DESIGN

01 WEB STORE

This website is an online store for anti-theft backpacks.

The goal was to make simple yet futuristic website, so it would go well with backpacks design.

story time

We wanted something different for "About" page. So what I came up with, is this short, comic style, story with illustrations about the developer and his sidekick - cat.

(It is based on an actual Goran's cat.)

 $\lambda_{\text{sun}} = 2000 \cdot (999 - 22.44 \cdot \sin(\theta))$

A database website for sun coverage on any given location, throughout the year.

• Fascinating project. I had a complete freedom to envision the best experience for a user.

...and that my friend, I did do.

Illustrations were made along with the web-site I had a pleasure to create.

The goal was to inform public about how this government's health organisation can help children/people in need of expensive treatment abroad.

If you're reading this, it means you've just rolled the mouse button over 65 times!

You & your scrolling wheel have been through so much! I just want you to know that index finger's hard work won't go unnoticed.
